BOS:EXPO – Trade fair for rescue and civil protection

BOS:EXPO is the new trade fair and conference for the fire service, emergency medical services and civil protection.

From 25 to 27 February 2027, the Augsburg Exhibition Centre will host an event that brings together volunteers and professionals under one roof. Three days of technology, practical experience and dialogue. For everyone responsible every day for rescue, protection and resilience.

"The BOS:EXPO in Augsburg specifically strengthens civil protection: It brings together emergency services, public authorities, aid and emergency response organisations, promotes practical innovations and improves cross-organisational collaboration and operational readiness. It therefore sends a strong signal for safety in our country!"

Joachim Herrmann, MdL
Bavarian Minister of State for the Interior, Sport and Integration
Patron of the BOS:EXPO Augsburg

Target Audience for BOS:EXPO

- Professional and volunteer fire brigades
- Emergency medical services
- Integrated control centres
- THW
- Mountain rescue
- Water rescue
- Aid organisations
- Civil protection authorities

The Exhibits and Exhibitors at BOS:EXPO

Leading manufacturers are showcasing the full range: emergency vehicles, personal protective equipment, control centre technology and communications systems, hydraulic rescue equipment, medical technology, drones and sensor technology.

Real-world case studies, live demonstrations, round-table discussions and matchmaking turn the trade fair into an interactive forum – rather than a mere product showcase.

As at 12 May 2026 / Subject to change without notice

Why Exhibit at BOS?

- At BOS:EXPO Augsburg, you can reach people who are open-minded, interested and ready to make decisions – and who are specifically looking for products, inspiration and solutions for their work in emergency services and civil protection.
